Novel Coronavirus Update
April 17, 2020

The Japanese government has declared the state of a nationwide emergency. Although the regulation is not forcing people to stay home, this is a reminder for citizens to practice social distancing and to limit travel. The Japanese National Emergency is only an advisory and people may go to the office if necessary.

KOA Japan factories are working at 100% and KOA is practicing social distancing as advised by the Japanese Government by having a mix of employees working from home and working from the offices.

KOA Speer will continue to keep our customer up to date during the troubling times as governmental policies change around the world that could affect KOA’s supply to our customers.

Sincerely,

KOA Speer Electronics
